REASON FOR ALLOWANCE

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: The prior art of record (Reed et al.) teaches being able to override a call block for a first call and blocking the call during the subsequent call thus the step of overriding and blocking are not performed in a single call.

The ability to override or intercept a call is well known or letting a call through and then blocking the call based on detected fraud parameters.

However, the ability to control fraud for a call from an originating number to terminating number comprising the steps of overriding a call block to the international destination applied to an exchange level of the originating number, based on an override flag associated with an account of the caller and blocking the call based on the originating number if the call block at the exchange level of the originating number is overridden for a single call is not taught by the prior art of record.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
